First Fatality Occurs at MTO

A construction worker, identified by State Ptn. Donald Pope and Chief Deputy Sheriff Eldo Depreo, as Thomas Grover McNeill, 47, of Louisville, Miss., was fatally injured at 10 p. m. Monday when struck by an automobile on State Highway 43 as he was standing by a ready-mix concrete truck at a Mississippi Test Operations work project.

Investigating officers said McNeill was apparently killed instantly.

The driver of the car, James B. Nutter, 29, of Poycune, sustained a cut on the wrist.

According to the officers, McNeill, an employee of Gulf Construction Company, Jackson, was standing behind his truck while concrete was being poured on a construction project located one-fourth mile north of the Hancock bank building on the NASA test site.

The northbound car side-swiped the left rear of the truck, striking McNeill and dragging him for a distance of about 180 feet. Both the car and truck were damaged.

The body was removed to Riemann's Pahey-Whitfield Funeral Home, where an inquest, held by Beat 1 Justice of the Peace Lester Hoover, ruled death due to a traffic accident.

McNeill's body was transferred to Harris Funeral Home in Louisville for funeral arrangements.

Joseph V. Colson, president of the Commission brought the group up to date on Mississippi House Bill 393 which will give the Planning group "official" status. Colson said legislators from Harrison, Hancock and Pearl River Counties had assured him that they were behind the bill which is now in a committee.

MacK Harrin, Public Affairs Officer for MTO, gave the Commission latest employment figures at the NASA test site and told the group that NASA has awarded some $120 million in construction and procurement contracts for work at the test site.

The Commission will meet again April 28 in Poycune.

Some good fishing last night was had over the heavy rain of last night. The heavy rain of last night made most all streams and fishing over the night was terrible. No good fishing and should be under a couple of weeks. Water recedes you can get good fishing in this in the bayous, joining streams.

Known March comes in and goes out like a arch winds have played with all fishing. Next will usher in some good both fresh and salt water crabbing and floundering. According to Joe Kern last week the largest fish caught 5 flounders, 10 pounds. They were

A large catch of fish reported from Boston was that the fishing vessel Saint Patrick docked at the Boston fish pier on St. Patrick's Day with the largest catch brought in by a Boston trawler this year, haddock and cod, weighing 200,000 pounds.

More wildlife areas are urged according to Joe Herring, Chief of the Louisiana Fish and Wildlife Commission said Tuesday that the state's 27 wildlife areas are not sufficient to provide for future demands.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Kiwanis Club of New Orleans at the Sheraton-Charles Hotel, Herring said that highways, industrial and residential projects are gobbling up valuable land which will later be needed for recreation. "With two-thirds of the population living in metropolitan areas, the real challenge is to provide satisfactory hunting and fishing areas nearby," he said.

The same thing is true for Mississippi. Even our fishing has been affected by digging canals which are lined by homes and by traffic of speed hulls for skiing and boat riding. "Some drivers of these boats don't know the harm done by going up small bayous where the fish go to spawn. The are wanted up on the banks and thousands of fish are destroyed. Boat owners should do their fishing in wide rivers and in outside waters.

Herring urged citizens to act now toward acquiring more wildlife areas because crowding has forced many local sportsmen to seek game opportunities as far as the northern part of the state.

Another thing fishermen should do is to go slow when passing fishing places where boats and speeding boats cause the boats to hit wharves, knock off the paint and otherwise damage them. Be a good sport and regard other people's property.

According to the Times-Picayune Mississippi's oyster production during the 1964 season will exceed 120,000 barrels when all permits are recorded, the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission announced Wednesday.

Chief Inspector George Williams said permits regarding 105,334 barrels have already been turned in.

Tony Enterante Jr., and Morris Daniels were over a short time back and were telling us of the nice green trout and perch they caught at Buck's Bayou. Both are newcomers to fly fishing but are learning rapidly.

For open water fishing regard, one of how fine the day is, just wish that this time of the year can be dangerous on large open bodies of water for small craft. Be safe, take precautions, have that life preserver and turn back. You can go another time.

Nickey, Raulet did it again caught two green trout weighing 3 and 4.2 pounds last week. Of course the fish were caught in a private pond. Nicky said it's a pleasure to catch that size fish regardless of where you catch them. We agree with you Nicky.

Rus Roland, stationed at Keesler Field in Biloxi and who hails from Indiana told us of the fish he catches in lakes in northern Indiana. He says there are plenty of large crappies and blue gills there also. Introduce you to some of our fishing friends soon Rus.

There is no place like home when it comes to fishing provided you know where to go. Hereabouts there is both good salt and fresh water fishing but condition of the water and tides have a lot to do with it. We think by the end of March fishing will improve immensely. Under adverse conditions last Saturday, bad water and high winds, Luke Elliott and yours truly caught a mess of fresh water fish. Had to travel like you know what and work hard. You can't catch them with your rod in the boat.

Won't be long before the spring season will close. Better get them now. It is fun to open them and eat them on the half shell. Cheaper too. Local sea food places have them opened and ready to go or in the shell.

It's not the bait that counts, it is the way you use it. While using a fly rod for catching fish, perch fishing is different from green trout fishing. When using popping bugs a perch bug should be used very slowly and for trout the bait is popped rather fast and often. The action of the bait is what counts not color.

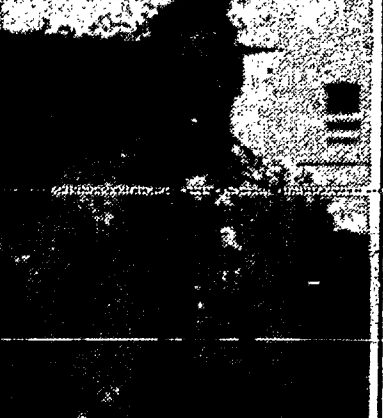

Lakes are misleading, their flat surfaces hide a wide variety of underwater conditions. Determine the most likely spots that hold the greatest natural appeal for fish. Green trout and perch feed under lily pads and in grass. Naked banks usually mean poor fishing. Gars are prevalent and the fish have no place to hide. Weedy bays and coves are natural feeding grounds of many fish. Bass tend to drift into deep holes during the day but late in the afternoon strike on the surface when the tide is falling. Not many fish water fish strike on a rising tide. The tide has a lot to do with fishing. Some lakes can only be fished on a high tide, just beginning to fall. Watch your tide for best fishing.

Next Wednesday, April 1st, Jef Fauchaux of New Orleans, who is a frequent visitor here and an expert fisherman, will have to take a lot of kidding, not only will it be April Fool's Day, but it will also be his 14th birthday.

Many happy returns Jef.

LAST WINTER'S SNOW HEAVIEST OF CENTURY

NEW ORLEANS, Miss. - The heaviest snowfall in the state was recorded in the Gulf Coast area during the last winter. The first snow, on Dec. 22, buried the northern half of the state, while the coastal and southern portions were spared the blizzard. The second snow on New Year's Eve.

Mount Pleasant, a Marshall County town just below the Tennessee border, measured 18 inches from the first storm. This was the greatest depth ever recorded in Mississippi.

E. J. Saltzman, climatologist for the Weather Bureau in New Orleans, said the previous record measurement was 16 inches at Stoneville in Washington County in January, 1936.

The Gulf Coast and southeast Mississippi up to Meridian and Columbus were crippled by the New Year's Eve snow which may have been the worst in history in those areas.

Saltzman, whose job it is to keep up with such things, said the only snowfall comparable was in 1896, but that records for those days were not complete.

Official measurements ranged from near 11 inches at Bay St. Louis on the coast to around 15 inches at Meridian. Columbus had 14 inches and Biloxi recorded an astonishing - for it - six inches.

BETTER VARIETIES ARE NOW AVAILABLE

STATE COLLEGE, MISS. - When 35 grain sorghums were compared in Experiment Station variety tests, results showed how much progress has been made through breeding projects in the last 10 years.

Martin, one of the best pure-line varieties 10 years ago, has been retained in the test as a check variety. When the variety study began Martin was well up in the list of high producers.

Development of a superior new variety has increased yields to the extent that Martin was 35th in the field of 35 last year.

Six varieties - GA 615, Pioneer 820, Dekalb D50, GA 609, Ranger, and NK 210 - made 70 or more bushels per acre, compared to 47 bushels for Martin. Brown grain sorghum has recently been shown to resist weathering and to possess some resistance to bird damage in the field. GA 609, GA 615 and RS 617 are brown grain varieties.

Dr. Norman C. Merwine, who conducted the test at State College, Mississippi, said: "It is difficult to determine the one best variety for all conditions on the basis of any one year's test. Many new varieties become available each year and there seems to be no clear-cut yield superiority for any particular variety over a group of others. Plant type is

NEW PARCEL RATES BECOME EFFECTIVE AS OF APRIL 1ST

Postmaster Andy J. Becker has been advised by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski that the decision of the ICC will assist the Post Office Department in carrying out its objective of reducing the drain on the Federal treasury by $100 million.

The last parcel post increase was on February 1, 1960, the postmaster pointed out.

To illustrate the effect of the new rates here, Mr. Becker noted that a six-pound parcel, which is the average weight for local area delivery will cost 37c instead 32c.

Savings Bonds are not only a sensible way to save, they make an excellent method of writing your own ticket to secure retirement years.
